Ylvisaker

"Jesus rock" with John Ylvisaker and a light show will be featured at a 10 a.m. worship service Wednesday, March 10.

To be held in Neumann Chapel-auditorium, Ylvisaker's worship will use songs by George Harrison, James Taylor, Bob Dylan, Erik Clapton, Steve Sills and others.

Ylvisaker will present a second program from 7:30 to 8 p.m. in Buhr Lounge.

A resident of Minneapolis, Ylvisaker has appeared at Carnegie Hall and Madison Square Garden.

Two of his records will be released this spring. They join seven he has already produced.

White Lightning

Student Senate will join Social Activities to present White Lightning, a Minneapolis rock group at a dance on March 6.

The group, which will perform from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in Knights Gym, appeared at rock festivals in Wadena, Ia., and Stevens Point, Wis., last summer.

The group has also performed in Chicago.

Billboard Magazine has said of White Lightning, "A superb rock group of the highest caliber, distant from the current craze of ego trips, the group is successful in playing together, with some very tasty double leads."

Vacancies

Three Student Senate seats are vacant, according to Student Body Corresponding Secretary Sarah Lowe. Chellevoid-Ernst has one seat empty and off-campus has two vacancies.

Office of Senate Recorder is also vacant but probably will not be filled until new Student Body Elections are held the first week in April.

Faculty recital

Faculty recital on Sunday, March 14, will feature the tenor voice of Dr. C. Robert Larson with Eugene Hudson at the piano. The program is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Voecks Auditorium. Dr. Larson and Hudson are members of the Music Department.

Larson has selected a program including the musical works of such masters as Brahms, Poulenc, Puccini and more contemporary sounds of such composers as Barber.

Joint concert

Combined symphony and vocal groups will perform this Sunday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m. in Knights Gymnasium.

Featured will be the Wartburg Symphony in two numbers, "I Walked in Paradise Garden" by Delius, and "The Reformation Symphony" by Mendelssohn.

My Lai investigator says killings used wrong method

(CPS)

LOS ANGELES—Editor Scott Kaufer of the Oakwood High School Gorilla had the following conversation about "little Vietcong" with F. Edward Hebert, chairman of the Armed Services Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Hebert was also chairman of the subcommittee that investigated the My Lai incident.

Q: Do you think that a lot of the people who were killed in My Lai were Vietcong?

F. EDWARD HEBERT: There's no doubt about it.

Q: There also is no doubt, though, isn't there, that a lot of people who were killed there were not Vietcong, couldn't possibly have been?

HEBERT: What were they doing in that village, for 25 years a Vietcong stronghold?

Q: Well, I'm talking about the women and children, though.

HEBERT: What were they doing there?

Q: Well, they were living there.

HEBERT: That place had been cleaned out several times, and they went back to the Vietcong.

Q: Right, I mean there's no question that some of those who were killed at My Lai could not possibly have been Vietcong; they were little children; they were 1 year, 2 years old...

HEBERT: They were just growing up to be big Vietcong. Those little children throw grenades...

Q: Yeah, but there were some children there who were 1 year old and 2 years old...

HEBERT: That's going into testimony which we didn't take. All we said was that Vietnamese in civilian clothes were killed, wantonly killed, unnecessarily killed. That's what we said.

Q: Those two things seem to be in conflict. On the one hand your report saying that they were unnecessarily killed, and on the other hand you're saying now that they just would have grown up to be big Vietcong.

HEBERT: I can't resolve that either... I've said they're little Vietcong who'll grow up to be big Vietcong.

Q: So why was their killing unnecessary?

HEBERT: You can kill, in an atrocity, unnecessarily, even the enemy. Just because you kill them doesn't mean you can slaughter the enemy.

Q: So then your real objection to the event at My Lai was not that it happened, but how it happened?

HEBERT: How it happened.

Q: The way in which they were killed, not that they were killed?

HEBERT: That's correct. I think that would be fair.

Senate endorsement clarified

Student Senate's endorsement of a preamble to the People's Peace Treaty between the United States and Vietnam did not include endorsement of points of support for the treaty.

The preamble, written by Senator Jim Melvin, a senior from Engelbrecht-Wiederaenders, passed Senate 17-1 with two abstentions.

In its entirety, the People's Peace Treaty includes its own preamble, totally different from the one drafted by Melvin.

His preamble alone was the subject of the Senate's endorsement.

The resolution says the Senators "fully agree and adhere" to the treaty and are committed "to demonstrating the fact that the American and Vietnamese people are not enemies."

Melvin also suggested points of individual action, including refusal of personal military involvement in the Vietnam War, boycott of products of corporations involved in war production, refusal to pay war taxes and civil disobedience.

Those points were not included in the Senate resolution.

Text of the Peoples' Peace Treaty is on p. 2.

Senators and Wartburg students are being given the opportunity to sign the points of action as individuals.

Said Melvin, "I believe the preamble that was composed supports the statements of the Peace Treaty, at least indirectly, if not directly."

"Therefore, the Senate, in endorsing the preamble, was in a sense endorsing the treaty itself," he added.

The People's Peace Treaty, as originally composed, is a nine-point declaration of peace between the American and Vietnamese people signed in North Vietnam a few months ago by a U.S. National Student Association delegation and students from North and South Vietnam.

Bob Hilgemann, Student Action Commissioner, helped compose the preamble.

"The points of action are as powerful as the people who sign them make them. A person shouldn't sign unless he is ready to commit himself to these points," Hilgemann said.

"I feel that most people who object are people who haven't ever been involved in Vietnam and are generally too lazy to be so," he added.

"The Treaty should make a major change in the lives of the people who sign. It is for those who sign to consider the individual point," commented freshman Hugo Becker.

U.S. tour to include Wartburg

Guitarist Julian Bream will perform March 8 in Neumann Chapel-auditorium on one of his biannual, two-week U.S. tours. Robert Gremmels, Artist Series director, predicts that he will play to a near sellout crowd.

First half of the concert will be devoted to lute selections and the second to those of guitar.

Bream will play perform solo, in the strictest sense. Gremmels says that he will be "just a man with a guitar, a chair and a footstool."

For this performance, a special concession in seating was arranged.

A number of pit seats, chairs in front of the center front row of seats, were offered in addition to the regular house seats.

Letters to the Editor

I am the Younger Generation. I too, like the Older Generation, am confused.

I am not opposed to receiving grades for work done in classes, nor do I wish to take life easy. But I do lose interest in grades when they (as they so often do!) fail to accurately represent my "learning."

Instead, they tell how well the instructor liked me, if I dared to express my own opinion or to question what was presented. Unfortunately, grades are mutes; they cannot speak up and say what they actually represent.

I am young and idealistic: I place the emphasis on how much I personally feel I learn rather than the letter grade, which may be a complete misrepresentation.

I am young and my values are "wrong." Someday when I am old, I will know the important things are the number of promotions one receives, the size salary one collects and the height of the letters on the name plate on the door!

And Faye Blue's statement, "Success in school as measured by grades, appears to bear little relationship to good citizenship, good work habits, compassion, happiness, or other significant human values which our civilization prizes" (Delta Kappa Gamma Bulletin XXXVI - 3; 1970) will be proven wrong.

Then all instructors will grade all students on a fair and equal basis. "Yes, perhaps the Utopia may still come."

But then I will be old; so today, while I am still young I will wear blue jeans, walk in mud puddles and yes-value learning for learning's sake.

Lois Warnke

After reconsidering the letter which I submitted to you on Jan. 19, 1971, I have decided I agree with you—it cannot be cut without detracting from its purpose. I have, however, omitted several lines.

Having also studied your layouts, I find your estimation of one page to print my letter to be a bit of an exaggeration. It seems that little over half a page, if that much, would be sufficient. I also feel that what I have to say has as much, if not more, interest and certainly more worth to your readers than an equally lengthy dissertation on the police force at the Luther game!

You will also recall that during our conversation of Friday, Feb. 5, 1971, you stated that you "bend over backwards to print conservative views," but you have only received a couple such letters this year.

I repeat: You have received a letter, Mr. Weitz. If you consider it disgusting to even give me half a page, if that is what it takes, then you have no choice but to admit that your paper is biased. Both sides of this story need to be exposed and one-half page is hardly going to outweigh all the previous or even future radical copy.

You see, Mr. Weitz, I am not asking a favor of you; I am only requesting that you give the students of this campus what is their due. You will please find enclosed my letter to the editor.

Barbara Bjorgan

(Ed. note: Miss Bjorgan's letter concerns two similar but unpublished letters she submitted in January and February, both of which were responses to Brenda Otto's article "Is the 'peculiar malady' becoming peculiar?" (Dec. 11, 1970).

The Trumpet's "letter" policy, which has been periodically published on this page, states that letters must be approximately 250 words, that the Trumpet reserves the right to edit for length and for grammatical mistakes without altering the writer's intent and that letters must be signed.

Miss Bjorgan's second and shorter letter was over 900 words and could not be cut without irrevocable damage.

Finally, the editorial board's "disgust" with the letters has nothing to do with the decision not to print them. As we all know, brevity is the soul of wit.)

Peoples' Peace Treaty

JOINT TREATY OF PEACE BETWEEN THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE PEOPLE OF SOUTH VIETNAM AND NORTH VIETNAM

Be it known that the American and Vietnamese people are not enemies. The war is carried out in the names of the people of the United States and South Vietnam but without our consent. It destroys the land and people of Vietnam. It drains America of its resources, its youth and its honor.

We hereby agree to end the war on the following terms, so that both peoples can live under the joy of independence and can devote themselves to building a society based on human equality and respect for the earth.

1. The Americans agree to immediate and total withdrawal from Vietnam and publicly to set the date by which all American forces will be removed.

The Vietnamese pledge that as soon as the U.S. Government publicly sets a date for total withdrawal:

2. They will enter discussions to secure the release of all American prisoners, including pilots captured while bombing North Vietnam.

3. There will be an immediate cease-fire between U.S. forces and those led by the Provisional Revolutionary Government of South Vietnam.

4. They will enter discussions of the procedures to guarantee the safety of all withdrawing troops.

5. The Americans pledge to end the imposition of Thei-Ky-Khiem on the people of South Vietnam in order to insure their right to self-determination and so that all political prisoners can be released.

6. The Vietnamese pledge to form a provisional coalition government to organize democratic elections. All parties agree to respect the results of elections in which all South Vietnamese can participate freely without the presence of any foreign troops.

7. The South Vietnamese pledge to enter discussion of procedures to guarantee the safety and political freedom of those South Vietnamese who have collaborated with the U.S. or with the U.S.-supported regime.

8. The Americans and Vietnamese agree to respect the independence, peace and neutrality of Laos and Cambodia in accord with the 1954 and 1962 Geneva conventions and not to interfere in the internal affairs of these two countries.

9. Upon these points of agreement, we pledge to end the war and resolve all other questions in the spirit of self-determination and mutual respect for independence and political freedom of the people of Vietnam and the United States.

By ratifying the agreement, we pledge to take whatever actions are appropriate to implement the terms of this joint Treaty and to insure its acceptance by the government of the United States.

(Based on the areas of agreement between the Joint Declaration of Peace with the South Vietnamese Students and the Joint Declaration of Peace, signed by representatives of students in North Vietnam, the NLF, and the U.S., and after discussion with Vietnamese in Paris, a common declaration of peace, printed in full above, was written and agreed to by three Vietnamese groups and the Americans.)

Libertarians stress individual rights

I am not a conservative; I am a libertarian. The basic difference between these two viewpoints is stated in the following article which appeared in the University of Iowa "Daily Iowan" in October, 1969. It is adapted here by permission of the author, Doug Rasmussen, a graduating philosophy-econ major at Iowa City.

"Libertarianism is a social, economic and political philosophy concerned with men's dealings with one another. Its position concerning these

In essence the conservative position rests on blind faith while libertarianism rests on Aristotle's axiom of identity.

"Libertarians justify capitalism because it is the only social system compatible with man's nature as a rational animal; conservatives usually attempt to justify it by appealing to the importance of tradition in men's lives.

"Considering this, it isn't hard to see why many young people today see conservatives as anything but advocates of freedom. It makes no sense to fight for man's right to property while simultaneously advocating his enslavement (The draft, etc.).

"Finally, while libertarians oppose statism because it prevents men from acting according to the independent judgments which they must make and follow in order to live, conservatives oppose statism because it is an attempt to make man perfect and such an attempt is inherently futile, for they consider man is by nature, now and forever, evil. Man, in essence, they are saying, isn't good enough for the social planners.

"Libertarians are not liberals in the modern sense of the term.

"This means that libertarians advocate property rights, oppose all forms of paternalism—from welfare legislation to the sex and drug laws—and fervently advocate freedom as the key to solving social life.

"Libertarianism is radicalism pure and simple. Radical means fundamental. Libertarians seek to challenge this society's fundamental assumptions and, where needed, offer the alternative of freedom."

dealings is that they should be conducted voluntarily—that is, all the participants in any activity should be free from threat of physical force by any other participant, whether that participant is one man or two million men. It holds the inviolate supremacy of individual rights—the essence of the philosophy behind the Declaration of Independence, and the only alternative to the tired statist policies of this century.

"Don't confuse libertarianism with what is known today as conservatism. The basic difference between the two is the justification for individual rights.

"Libertarianism holds that man by his nature has rights which are a necessary part of man being man. Conservatism holds that there is some transcendental-mystical reason why man has rights."

Sophs change membership

Constitutional changes will give next year's juniors two kinds of class membership.

Adoption of a special amendment to the constitution of the class of 1973 provides for Type A and Type B class members.

Type A membership includes all those Wartburg students recognized by the registrar as juniors, while type B includes those who have paid dues of $1

Voting privileges will parallel membership types.

On matters concerning the entire class, all members of each type will vote.

Only Type B members will vote for class projects, money appropriations and class social activities.

Other sophomore plans, according to class president Bruce

Peace Corps forum gives divergent views

By MARK LEHMANN

Diverse opinions marked a panel discussion on the role of the Peace Corps in the Third World here last Thursday evening.

Members of the panel disclosed various encounters with the Peace Corps. A former Waverly resident, Michael Pauley, spent two years in Malaysia as a Volunteer and now serves as Midwest PC recruiter.

Dr. P.K. Nambiar from Kerala, India, serves as a Host Country Recruiter for the Peace Corps. Wartburg senior George Arkue has had personal contact with PC Volunteers in his native Liberia.

Two years as a volunteer in the Dominican Republic molded panel member Tom Farr's opinion of the Peace Corps. Farr represented the Committee of Returned Volunteers which sees the Peace Corps as an extension of aggressive American foreign policy.

"I was not dissatisfied or personally disgruntled with the Dominicans as a Volunteer but rather with the Americans," commented Farr.

"I felt manipulated and almost part of a plan. We Volunteers manipulated Dominicans in return, and they are the ones who suffer in the end."

Arkue, who met both competent and as he stated it "less competent" PC Volunteers in Liberia, felt the Peace Corps forces peoples of the Third World to "imitate a culture that is not their own."

"To accept a culture that doesn't accept your own cultural values is very hard to do," he said.

"An opportunity for all Americans to cross a cultural barrier and on a personal basis accept another culture" was Dr. Nambiar's description of the Peace Co. PC's main purpose, according to him, is to provide technical help for those countries that ask for it.

Pauley said his main purpose was to provide an alternative for the Malays, and his main work was technical, not political.

"Cultural imperialism" was Farr's impression of the Peace Corps formed during his work as a teacher trainer in Latin America. He criticized the "arrogance of power" most Americans exhibit when trying to aid underdeveloped countries.

"The attitude of Americans is wrong when they even believe they have the power of life and death over the World."

American interest abroad is directed mainly towards profit instead of people, stated Farr.

"True, the Peace Corps is only in countries where it has been invited to come, but these invitations come mostly from the power elite of that country, often representative of U.S. industrial interests," he continued.

In discussing alternatives to the Peace Corps, Arkue stated that "the U.S. should send the essentials for self-education instead of Volunteers. Third World Countries must learn self-reliance instead of dependence."

Dr. Nambiar expressed his faith in the Peace Corps in his final statement, "The U.S. doesn't have all the answers for all the problems of the world, but they can help through the Peace Corps."

The panel was co-sponsored by the Wartburg Student Senate and the Wartburg-Waverly Community Relations Committee.

Knights top IIAC but fall to Raiders

Playing their fifth game in six days, Wartburg cagers lost to Northwestern 103-84 in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) District 15 championship game at Orange City last Wednesday.

Northwestern took command midway through the first half and was never seriously threatened again by the fatigued, foul-plagued Knights.

With the victory, the Raiders earned a trip to Kansas City for the NAIA nationals.

19-8 record

The Knights end the season with a 19-8 record highlighted by a fifth straight Iowa Conference championship.

It was a battle all the way for the Knights, who played four games in five days to reach the championship contest with Northwestern.

With two games left in Iowa Conference play, Wartburg was tied for second while Central held the top.

Wartburg trailed 44-41 at the half but came back to edge Upper Iowa 85-82 in last Friday's game at Waverly.

Dave Platte and Frank Stewart led the Wartburg scoring attack with 18 and 17 points, respectively.

Knights share title

A Dubuque stall with 2:44 remaining, turned against the Spartans as their last-second shot missed the basket, giving Wartburg a 70-69 victory and a share of the Iowa Conference title at Knights gym last Saturday.

The Knights had been trailing throughout the game until a lay-up by Mike Rasche made the score 60-59 in Wartburg's favor with seven minutes remaining.

William Penn defeated Simpson, but Central lost to Buena Vista, resulting in a three-way tie for the Iowa Conference title among Wartburg, William Penn and Central. The tie gave Coach Buzz Levick's Knights an unprecedented fifth straight championship.

A flip of a coin gave William Penn one Iowa Conference berth in the NAIA play-offs while Wartburg was pitted against Central for the other.

Wartburg nips Central

Dave Platte capped the third straight come-from-behind victory for Wartburg with a lay-up with two seconds left for a 64-62 win over Central at Oskaloosa last Monday.

Waldsten and Rasche topped Wartburg scoring with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Tom Manchester and Fred Waldsten led Wartburg to the finals of the NAIA District 15 play-offs with an 81-66 win over Loras at Knights gym, Tuesday.

Manchester poured in 19 points and Waldsten scored 15 and grabbed 14 rebounds.

Trackmen drop two

Mankato State rolled up 111 points to overpower Wartburg and Luther, but the Knights topped the Norsemen 33-25 in a track triangular at Mankato, Minn., last Tuesday.

Bill Vognsen gained the Knights' only win as he topped the field in the 60-yard dash with a 6.5 clocking.

Paul Gammelme broke the Wartburg indoor record for the triple jump with a 43' 1/4" second-place effort. He was also second in the long jump with 21' 1/4".

Other place winners for the Knights were: four-lap relay, second; Doug Beck, third, mile; Marty Rathje, fourth, mile and two-mile; Lynn Gunderson, fourth, long jump; Jim Weber, fourth, shot put; and Bill Isham, third, 60-and 176-yard intermediate hurdles.

Also placing were: Terry Ebert, third, pole vault; Lyle Slotten, third, 440; Jim Ellefson, third, 60-yard high hurdles; Bernie Rost, fourth, 176-yard dash; and Bob Mudd, third, 880.

Wartburg junior varsity trackmen failed to win an event and fell to Coe College 60-22 in an indoor meet at Coe Feb. 27.

Wartburg Sports

Conference meet provides test for Knight wrestlers

Wartburg faces keen competition in the Iowa Conference wrestling meet at Central College in Pella this weekend, but is working toward improvement on last year's third-place finish.

Although Upper Iowa, 16-0-1 on the year, is favored to take its fourth straight team championship. Other conference teams also have potent squads.

Wartburg, 11-5-1, gave UIC the only blemish on its record when the Knights tied the Peacocks on Feb. 11. Dubuque, 10-4, came within two points of Upper Iowa and within three of the Knights. Both Luther, 10-5-2, and Central, 11-4, beat Wartburg during the regular season.

Mannie Holmes at 167 is Wartburg's only defending conference champion. His record for the year is 19-6-1.

Greg Slager, a second-place finisher at 177 last year, has compiled a 20-2 record at 190 this season and will wrestle at that weight in the conference meet.

"Anything can happen at a conference meet," commented Coach Dick Walker, "and if we can score points in each weight class we should be right in contention."
